

SnowyKim Employee Onboarding Policy

Effective Date: July 14, 2026

Version: 1.0

Policy Owner: Human Resources

Applies To: New employees in the San Francisco and New York City offices

Document Classification: Internal Use Only

Policy ID: HR-ONB-001

1. Purpose

This policy establishes a consistent onboarding process so new employees receive the information, access, equipment, and support needed to begin work successfully.

2. Responsibilities

Human Resources

Human Resources is responsible for:

- Confirming the employee's start date
- Collecting required employment forms
- Coordinating benefits enrollment
- Providing required policies and notices
- Confirming completion of onboarding tasks
- Maintaining onboarding records

Hiring Manager

The hiring manager is responsible for:

- Preparing a first-week schedule
- Defining initial responsibilities and goals
- Introducing the employee to the team
- Assigning required training
- Confirming access to necessary systems
- Scheduling regular check-ins

Information Technology

Information Technology is responsible for:

- Creating the employee's company account
- Providing approved equipment
- Configuring system access based on role

- Enabling required security controls
- Providing technical support

New Employee

The employee is responsible for:

- Completing required forms accurately and on time
- Reviewing assigned policies
- Completing required training
- Protecting company accounts and equipment
- Reporting missing access or incorrect personal information

3. Preboarding

Before the employee's first day, SnowyKim should complete or initiate:

- Offer and start-date confirmation
- Employment eligibility documentation
- Payroll and tax setup
- Background-check requirements, where applicable
- Equipment preparation
- Email and system account creation
- Workspace preparation
- Orientation scheduling
- Manager and team notification

Sensitive personal documents must be submitted through approved secure systems.

4. First-Day Requirements

New employees should receive:

- Company and team introductions
- Employee handbook
- Benefits information
- Payroll schedule
- Workplace conduct policies
- Security and privacy guidance
- Equipment and account instructions
- Explanation of job duties and reporting relationships
- Emergency and office information

Employees must not be asked to email sensitive documents through unsecured channels.

5. Required Documentation

Employees must complete all legally required and company-required documents, which may include:

- Employment eligibility verification
- Federal and state tax forms
- Direct-deposit authorization
- Emergency-contact information
- Policy acknowledgments
- Confidentiality or intellectual-property agreements
- Benefits enrollment forms
- Work-location and remote-work forms

Human Resources will limit access to these records based on business need.

6. System Access

System access must be assigned according to the employee's job duties and approved access role.

Access must:

- Follow least-privilege principles
- Be approved by the appropriate manager or system owner
- Be active by the employee's start date when practical
- Be reviewed after transfers or role changes
- Exclude confidential HR data unless specifically required

New employees may not share login credentials or use another employee's account.

7. Training

Required onboarding training may include:

- Workplace conduct and anti-harassment
- Information security
- Data privacy
- Code of conduct
- Safety and emergency procedures
- Role-specific systems and tools
- Manager training, where applicable

Training deadlines will be communicated by Human Resources or the hiring manager.

8. Benefits Enrollment

Eligible employees must complete benefits enrollment within the applicable enrollment period.

Human Resources will provide information regarding:

- Medical, dental, and vision coverage
- Retirement benefits
- Paid time off
- Leave programs
- Employee assistance resources
- Other available benefits

Failure to enroll by the deadline may limit the employee's ability to make changes until the next open enrollment period or a qualifying life event.

9. Introductory Period

During the first 90 days, managers should provide:

- Clear expectations
- Regular feedback
- Training support
- Progress check-ins
- Opportunities to ask questions
- Confirmation of role priorities

The introductory period does not alter the employee's at-will status where applicable.

10. Remote and Hybrid Employees

Remote and hybrid employees must:

- Use approved company equipment
- Follow security requirements
- Maintain a suitable work environment
- Protect confidential information
- Follow office attendance expectations
- Return company property when requested

11. Incomplete Onboarding

Human Resources or the hiring manager may escalate incomplete onboarding tasks, especially when they involve:

- Employment eligibility
- Payroll setup
- Required training
- Security acknowledgments
- Benefits deadlines
- Access approvals

System access may be delayed or limited when required documentation or training remains incomplete.

12. Recordkeeping

SnowyKim will retain onboarding records according to applicable law and the company's record-retention schedule.

Medical, accommodation, tax, banking, and employment eligibility records must receive restricted access.
